

Title: The Nutcracker in 3D

Year: 2010

genres: Fantasy

ReleaseDate: 2010-12-28

Storyline: Mary's (Elle Fanning) seemingly dull Christmas is suddenly filled with excitement and adventure following the arrival of her Uncle Albert (Nathan Lane), who gives her a Nutcracker as a gift. Later that night, Mary dreams that the Nutcracker – called N.C. (Charlie Rowe) – comes to life and takes her on a wondrous journey.^[4] They discover that the Nazi-like Rat King (John Turturro) has usurped the Nutcracker's kingdom.

When Mary and N.C. go to the top of the Christmas tree, they meet a fairy and, as she begins to sing, N.C. looks at his hand, as it begins to turn human. Worried about this he runs into the sleigh, but leaves his human hand revealed, and Mary sees this. Mary, seeing this, goes to N.C. and rubs his hand as we see that he is in fact a human crying with tears of joy that he is human again. The snow fairy begins to sing and toys appear and begin to ice skate around the tree.

Actors: Elle Fanning, Nathan Lane, Frances de la Tour, John Turturro, Richard E. Grant, Julia Vysotskaya, Aaron Michael Drozin